

Leadership Presence – The Key to Creating Genuine Relationships

Today's business world has become intensely competitive. Professionals, who wish to build their brand, develop new client relationships or leverage their go-to-market strategy, must develop skills that will help them stand out from the crowd.

In order to do so, they must develop a unique set of skills that will cultivate respect, build trust and strengthen relationships. We believe it all begins with leadership presence.

The Program:

In this unique, content-rich program, you'll discover some valuable tips, tools and strategies that will help you develop and build your presence. In the process, you will learn how to establish instant credibility and project yourself in a way that is aligned with who you really are.

Learner Outcomes:

At the end of this seminar, you will have the business savvy and knowledge that will increase your visibility, enhance your sphere of influence and improve your personal effectiveness.

All of these assets will add up to more self-confidence, stronger relationships and greater personal and professional success.

Who should attend?

Sales, financial advisors, client facing participants and anyone who would like to reach their full potential.

Leadership Presence – The Key to Creating Genuine Relationships

Participant Testimonials:

"I had the pleasure of attending Kimberley's training on Leadership Presence through the Oracle Women's Leadership group in December 2011. This is the best training I've attended at Oracle so far. The principles shared in this training are beneficial and helpful to my role as a sales representative, as a wife and as a parent. I highly recommend Kimberley to individuals and organizations who want to strengthen their personal/corporate values and ensure their long-term success."

Nicole Duterte - Business Development Manager
Oracle Canada

"I had an amazing time attending your seminar today and it was nothing short of uplifting, inspirational, and spiritual. It exceeded my expectations, and confirmed my belief that you are indeed "The Real Deal". You were definitely meant to be a motivational teacher, and you do it phenomenally well.

Your presentation is very solid, and having attended and viewed numerous self-help & spiritual seminars (Dr Wayne Dyer, Deepak Chopra, Anthony Robbins), you have it down pat. I loved how you incorporated the 9 components grid and touched upon each attribute. Keep doing what you're doing, you were born to do this, and, as I can attest, it's working!

Bob Sahota
